Colour WEEK

Yellow is the color of sunshine, happiness and all things bright!

Rebecca of KG2C

Mohammed with red balloon and Sara is holding a red bird, celebrating red colour day

Mahra of KG1B made her pretty orange fish craft.

Learning the colours is a milestone in early childhood and represents a child's cognitive understanding. Exposing children to and teaching them about the colours develops their visual perception – the brain's ability to correctly interpret what the eyes see. Eis Kindergarteners enjoyed every bit of learning about different shades of colours, tint shades, and making secondary colours.

Leaf tracing pattern!

Blue is the colour of the sky, the limit of your imagination & the beginning of your dreams!

Strawberries are red so enjoying craft work!

KG2A writing sentences about blue colour objects found in nature.

KG2B happily posed on 'Orange Day', in the DF area while identifying objects.

KG1B students presented their hand printed flowers!

COLOUR MIXING EXPERIMENT

Milk and food colour experiment magic!

Children were excited to try and learn about the magic dish wash experiment!

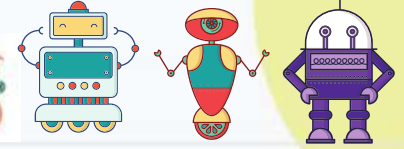

Ice - colour changing experiment engrossed everyone!

Colour mixing can help practice critical thinking skills like exploring cause and effect together and engaging in problem solving by testing different ways to achieve a certain color. Snapshots of the same!

ROBOTS

What exactly is a Robot?

Robots do not have feelings or emotions. However, 'Sentient Robots' are programmed to be conscious using artificial intelligence.

Robots were first created for their practical usefulness to humans – their purpose was to assist humans and help make work easier for them.

The field in which we study robots is known as Robotics.

L-R: Lamees, Yassin, Ayham, Rebecca, Yosuf, Sara, Emadul, Aya, and Ibrahim of Dino Class. Our little robots getting their bolts and gears moving to an upbeat dance song – 'I am a Dancing Robot'

EIS Kindergarten ARTISTS

Eyad Attia

Luthando Nduna

Pujana Owidu

Art provides kids with critical sensory input and can help children express their feelings in a multidimensional way even if they lack the vocabulary to describe their feelings with words. Our young artists at work!

- Eunice's Dad and Grandma

"Thank you for your support and hard work. She became a better one."
- Wateen's Mom

Being a parent of EIS is a big sense of pride for me. I heard a lot about EIS since Zakher before. But now that I've stepped into parenthood of my daughter in KG1, I feel very proud to say that the teachers are doing a wonderful job. I don't have to do anything as a parent because the teachers are doing everything for my daughter. And I feel really happy and I'm actually on cloud nine looking at my daughter's performance and when I see her in action, it gives me a real sense of pride. Thank you!

Joy's Mom

We are pleased with the way Ishaal is growing her personal and educational skills. We are observing a lot of change after she is going to school and when she's coming back she is very enthusiastic and very happy. She loves to go to school. She's not feeling awkward. That is a big sign that she is learning. We are thankful to her teacher and the management of the school.

Eshaal's Dad

Nishka cannot improve without you as I said last time she needs your support basically in terms of doing this stuff. We have something in between that even my home needs progress. So as she is improving we will see her in the coming five months academically, especially this year. Let's see so gradually we'll give her what you have written we just have to try to focus on that. We will do our best what we can do in our part. Thank you for helping her to grow.

Nishka's Dad

The purpose of these events is to allow the parents/guardians an opportunity to come to the school and become acclimated for this school year.

The school is very good and all the staff welcomes the parent warmly. I'm thankful and proud that my child is studying here.

Eunice's Dad

We're very appreciative of the good work the school did. And we find it so impressive through being with the children and how they express themselves when they come home. As they are interested as they come back to school and they always say the school is fun which tells us about the school. And we see they are interested and the progress in their work and also their behaviour. Thank you.

Luthando's Dad

Yosuf loves the school so much. His progress has a big improvement. His self confidence really improving compare to last year. He likes Ms. B so much! He said every morning Ms. B gives him a big hug!

Yosuf's Mom

Thanks for your efforts with my child. Amazing teacher I appreciate your efforts.

Aser's Mom

CLAY MODELLING COMPETITION

Clay play is a multi-sensory hobby: touch, sight, smell—and even sound. It helps improve eye/hand coordination and builds both gross and fine motor skills, including the small muscles in hands and fingers. Clay play can be a very invigorating, yet a soothing activity.
